

American Heritage Girls is a Christian scouting organization and has troops all over the US. AHG teaches girls ages 5-18 years old skills in the form of badges, which can be summarized into three main categories: the good, the true, and the beautiful. The good represents practical skills that are useful in survival situations as well as camping or just being in the great outdoors. Some of these badges include the camping, outdoor skills, survival, search & rescue, and emergency preparedness badges. The true represents badges that teach the truths about God and the Bible such as the Bible basics, women of faith, and biblical leadership badges. Along with these biblical truths, AHG teaches girls about the history of America and its founders in the dawn of our country, our Constitution, and citizenship & government badges. The last category, the beautiful, represents badges that apply to skills that can be hobbies and sometimes careers. Some examples are the cake decorating, music performance, cinematography, and needle arts badges. The badges that have been listed are just a few of the many skills and badges girls can learn and earn. Girls can also earn service stars when they serve their community for no income. AHG hosts service events where girls can get hours for their service stars. Like funding and laying wreaths to place on a veteran's grave at Christmastime to support Wreaths Across America, and various other projects throughout the year. AHG also teaches girls leadership as they get older to better prepare them for adulthood. Some things include holding leadership positions or planning events, service projects, or campouts, and leading flag ceremonies, a regular activity performed every troop meeting. American Heritage Girls' mission is to 'Create women of integrity through service to God, family, community, and country' and will teach girls many skills they can use in everyday life.
